The Barton Center for Diabetes Education, Inc. - Staff Code of Conduct

Mission Statement

To improve the lives of children with insulin-dependent diabetes through education, recreation, and support programs which inspire and empower.

Goals and Objectives

- 1. To establish a safe, positive residential summer camp experience, regardless of economic status, race, religion, ethnicity, gender, gender identity, or sexual orientation for children with insulin-dependent diabetes, where diabetes management is combined with a recreational program. The camp will:
 - a. Adhere to all American Camp Association Standards, Massachusetts Department of Health, and local Board of Health regulations on camp operation.
 - b. Provide sound and supportive medical supervision and treatment, diabetes education, nutritional guidance, physical activity, social and psychological support, and FUN!
 - c. Focus on and enhance the individual capabilities of each camper, via learning and/or the development of skills at activities, including, but not exclusive to, diabetes education and management.
 - d. Promote the development and utilization of problem-solving and decision-making skills by supporting campers, at their own pace, to make and exercise informed choices.
 - e. Offer each camper the opportunity to challenge his or her respective capabilities through involvement in the activity program.
- 2. To promote the healthy development, including socialization, coping skills, independence, and a positive self-esteem, of all campers.
- 3. To enable young people with diabetes to meet others with the same condition, encouraging peer support and acceptance.
- 4. To offer education programs on diabetes management and related issues to health care professionals, students, and the broader community.
- 5. To allow health care professionals an opportunity to observe children with diabetes and conduct diabetes research that enhances understanding, improves treatment options, and works toward a cure for diabetes but does not jeopardize the mission or goals of The Barton Center's programs for children and families or their camp experience.
- 6. To provide support, referral, and consultation for campers, past and present, and others with diabetes.
- 7. To promote public awareness and education of the impact of living with diabetes on young people.

Core Values

At camp, we strive to incorporate the core values of The Barton Center into all that we do. The values that are considered important should be incorporated into every activity we run, each staff member's actions and every camper attitude. These core values include:

- Building community
- Having fun
- Inspiring growth through individual challenge
- Promoting healthy lifestyles
- Fostering an appreciation of self and others

Diabetes education is an integral part of all we do at The Barton Center. While formal diabetes education is an important part of our program, campers' learning is largely impacted by the "teachable moments" that arise via the experience of living alongside other campers and staff with diabetes.

Developing friendships, sharing life experiences, and participating in the camp activity programs are motivating and inspirational events for many of our campers and staff. The experiences gained from being part of this unique community not only influence their diabetes management but also the way in which they progress through life.

Visior

To be the leading source of education, recreation and support programming for children with insulin-dependent diabetes.
